Partnering to help survey, standardize, and simplify infusion therapy

While your teams work hard to respond to the growing complexities of modern care, we understand your organization may continue to face a range of infusion challenges—from supply chain inefficiencies to elevated bloodstream infection rates and other safety concerns. With increasingly stretched staff, it can be difficult to maintain dedicated internal teams to pinpoint problems and make continuous improvements. That's where we come in.

It's time for a fresh approach to infusion assessment

ICU Medical is here to help with our no-cost Infusion Assessment Program. Our team of specialized clinicians has in-depth knowledge of the latest infusion therapy guidelines and decades of experience working with caregivers to assess current practices, provide evidence-based recommendations, and create a custom roadmap to help you achieve your clinical and supply chain goals. Here's how it works:

Collaborative review of goals

From infection control protocols to supply chain strategies, your Infusion Assessment Program begins with collaboration to help us understand current infusion-related processes, systems, and goals for your facility, as well as how they match the specific needs of each unit.

On-site unit-by-unit assessment

On-site unit-by-unit assessments are scheduled and conducted to help us align the different needs of each department with overarching hospital goals. By identifying how well current protocols and products support your goals, we can then provide strategies designed to improve infusion therapy across the entire hospital.

Reporting, recommendations, and roadmap

We deliver a comprehensive report of findings, evidence-based recommendations, and a roadmap to help you standardize technologies across departments.

We'll also help simplify your supply by ensuring each department has what it needs without excess products; for example, recommending a single procedure-ready set that replaces multiple individually packaged components, simplifying your stockroom while helping to enhance patient safety.

Ongoing partnership for continued success

We're here to help you achieve your goals, whether you need the program once or annually. From the moment you request the program, through assessment, and after implementation, we're available to help you enhance infusion therapy—today and into tomorrow.

Start streamlining and standardizing your infusion therapy while supporting infection control best practices today.
